

Lecturer held over assaulting officer

● The Police in Busia have arrested a lecturer of Busitema University, Amos Mugerwa, for allegedly assaulting a female Police officer on duty. A complaint of attempted rape was also filed. The Busia district Police commander, Eliya Elepot, confirmed the arrest of the lecturer, who works at the Nagongera campus in Tororo district. Stephen Muhozi, the Busia district officer in charge of traffic, said the officer who was assaulted is admitted at Tororo Hospital. New Vision could not get her comment. Peace Balala, the Busitema University publicist, said the incident was an individual case.
