

KIU Student In Trouble Over Leaked Nudes

A babe said to be a student of Kampala International University (KIU) is in deep trouble after a bunch of her nudes leaked a few days back and went viral on social media. The girl only identified as Tracy, who is second year student, is said to be in hiding ever since she learnt that authorities at the university are hunting for her to explain how these very kinky snaps of hers leaked. In the said snaps, Tracy is seen wearing a pink fur coat with nothing underneath apart from a pair of creamy knickers. In other snaps which we can't publish on these pages, she is seen standing stark naked just like she was created. However, Tracy's acts contravene the Anti-Pornography law and if found culpable, Tracy risks being arrested for corrupting public morals and complicity in production and dissemination of pornographic material. Last year, a student of Uganda Christian University identified as Lillian Rukundo was caged at Luzira prisons for posing nude and sharing kinky pictures and sex videos on social media.
